The Drake smiles before pressing the end of the flamethrower against your chest. "A shame that such an infamous villain will be so easy to kill. Here I was, expecting an exciting fight! Don't worry, this will only hurt a little," he says.

Fortunately he didn't notice you press the emergency backup button on your wristwatch, programmed to get you out of pickles like, say, getting murder-flirted with by a costumed pyromaniac. Now all you've got to do is wait for...

- A dozen of my armed troops to arrive and make him beg for mercy.
- A special frequency to disable his precious toy and make him panic!
- Electromagnetic pulses to disable all nearby lights, allowing me to escape in the dark.
- All three! Let's find out if The Drake can handle that. (Costs 1 Planning Point.)
